Contents

Forewords ix
Julie J. Kidd (President, Christian A. Johnson Endeavor Foundation)
Sally Engelhard Pingree (President, S. Engelhard Center)

Acknowledgments xv

Introduction 1

PART I: The Theoretical Arguments and Themes 3
Donald W. Harward

PART II: The Issues, Rationale, Constraints, and Practices 35

1 A Copernican Moment: On the Revolutions in Higher Education 37
David M. Scobey (The New School, New York)

2 The Ideals of the Liberal Artisan: Notes toward an Evolving Group Biography 51
Catharine R. Stimpson (New York University)

3 The Theories, Contexts, and Multiple Pedagogies of Engaged Learning: What Succeeds and Why? 73
Lynn E. Swaner (Consultant, Former Bringing Theory to Practice National Evaluator)
vi / Contents

4 Reuniting the Often Neglected Aims of Liberal Education: Student Well-Being and Psychosocial Development
   Dessa Bergen-Cico (Syracuse University, New York) and Joyce A. Bylander
   (Dickinson College, Pennsylvania)
   91

5 Renewing the Civic Purpose of Liberal Education
   Barry N. Checkoway (University of Michigan School of Social Work),
   Richard Guarasci (Wagner College, New York), and Peter L. Levine
   (Tufts University, Massachusetts)
   109

6 Evoking Wholeness: To Renew the Ideal of the Educated Person
   Theodore E. Long (Elizabethtown College, Pennsylvania)
   125

7 Knowledge and Judgment in Practice as the Twin Aims of Learning
   William M. Sullivan (Wabash College, Indiana)
   141

8 Assessment and Evaluative Studies as Change Agents in the Academy
   Ashley P. Finley (Bringing Theory to Practice and Association of American Colleges and Universities, Washington DC)
   159

9 Fostering Faculty Leadership for Sustainable Change in the Academy
   Adrianna J. Kezar (University of Southern California)
   and Alice (Jill) N. Reich (Bates College, Maine)
   173

10 Threshold Concepts of Teaching and Learning that Transform Faculty Practice (and the Limits of Individual Change)
   Kenneth R. Bain (Montclair State University, New Jersey)
   and Randall J. Bass (Georgetown University, Washington DC)
   189

11 Financing Change: Priorities, Resources, and Community Involvement
   Kent John Chabortar (Guilford College, North Carolina)
   209

PART III: Implications Likely to Follow from Sustained Transformative Changes 223

12 International Perspectives on Liberal Education: An Assessment in Two Parts
   225
Contents / vii

A: International Insights on the Essence of the Liberal Arts 225
   Richard A. Detweiler (The Great Lakes College Association, Michigan)

B: International Perspectives on Liberal Education:
   Polish Case Example
   Jerzy Axer (University of Warsaw, Poland) 239

13 Implications of Transformative Change in Higher Education for Secondary Education: A Dialogue
   Daniel Tad Roach (St. Andrews School, Delaware)
   and Michael V. McGill (Scarsdale Public Schools, New York) 253

14 Do Disciplines Change? Would Flipping the Curriculum Right-Side Up Lead to Change?
   Thomas Bender (New York University) 267

15 Liberal Education and the Policy Landscape 281
   Carol Geary Schneider (AAC&U) and Debra Humphreys (AAC&U)

PART IV:
Successful Models and Practices 303

Introduction to Case Studies 305
   Ashley P. Finley

Public Sphere Pedagogy: Connecting Student Work to Public Arenas—California State University, Chico
   Thia Wolf and William M. Loker 309

Engaging Faculty in Learning Communities:
   Lessons Learned—Dickinson College (Pennsylvania)
   Shalom D. Staub 313

Curriculum Infusion: Educating the Whole Student and Creating Campus Change—Georgetown University (Washington DC)
   Joan B. Riley and Mindy McWilliams 319

Attempting Organizational Transformational Learning from the Ground Up: Lessons Learned—Montclair State University (New Jersey)
   Valerie I. Sessa 325
Implementation of Peer-Led Team Learning and a Leadership Initiative and Establishment of a New Faculty Track as Examples of Institutional Change—Morehouse College (Georgia)
   Jann H. Adams and John K. Haynes

Listening to the Agents of Pedagogical Change—
St. Lawrence University (New York)
   Catherine A. Crosby-Currie and Christine Zimmerman

An Enduring Experiment—The Evergreen State College (Washington)
   Phyllis Lane and Elizabeth McHugh

Building the Capacity to Lead: Lessons Learned in the Evolution of the Leader Development System—United States Military Academy at West Point (New York)
   Bruce Keith

Building Institutional Capacity to Forge Civic Pathways—
University of Nebraska, Lincoln
   Nancy D. Mitchell and Linda J. Major

Successful Models and Practices—Wagner College (New York)
   Devorah A. Lieberman and Cassia Freedland

Index

Contributor Biographies